

Database design overview

Based on the repository's database schema: authentication, academics, examinations, hostel, library, audit, core services and administration.
PK/FK fields are shown in each entity. Connector lines represent foreign-key relationships; the detailed pages are provided for readability.
Repository documentation states that the database is organized into eight domain schemas and normalized to BCNF.

Domain key

